

The Museum of African American

Today it would be so ashamed when the racial issues are still flowing around us. The racial issues should be kick out of any sectors in this life. Many people realized that. So, they have stand together to kick the racism out of this life. There are many things that people have tried to do to kick the racism out of the life. One of those efforts is by building the African American Museum. In this museum people would be able to see any kinds of the memorabilia of the African American in the local history.

There are so many things that we could see about the African American people contribution to the local civilization and to the world. We would be able to see the great black fighters in the past that fight for the human rights equity. We would be able to see the great cultures of the African American people in the past. Surely, this is a great thing to know for us, considering that there are still too many people have sort of racial minds. By visiting the African American Museum it hopes that they great culture and the great parts of the old African American life today.
